

Lauren Kusik

Lauren joined the WFMZ Weather Team in December of 2014. You can catch her on 69 News at Sunrise 5-6 AM Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and on 69 News at Sunrise Weekend Edition Saturday 7-9 AM. She also covers the Accuweather Channel Sunday through Wednesday mornings and afternoons. She had the opportunity to speak at the Women in Science and Engineering (WISE) event with Da Vinci Science Center, visited schools around the Lehigh Valley to talk to classes about meteorology, and has done volunteer work.

Lauren is a New Jersey native from Randolph, Morris County. She graduated Magna Cum Laude with a meteorology degree from Kean University where she was president of The Student Chapter of the American Meteorological Society and the National Weather Association as well as a forecaster on Keancast, a student ran TV broadcast. She is still a member of the American Meteorological Society and the National Weather Association today. When Lauren isn't working she is running at local parks or doing yoga and of course keeping up to date with Twitter, Facebook and Instagram!

Her television career started at WCBS in New York City as a weather producer. She worked in Grand Junction, CO as the morning meteorologist and Sarasota, FL as the weekend meteorologist. Thanks to her assignments Lauren has experience ranging from snowstorms to hurricanes.

Before Lauren was interested in science and weather she was a ballerina! At the age of 3 she started dance classes. She made it into the American Academy of Ballet at a young age, became of a member of Garden State Ballet and performed the Nutcracker. She even did competitive tap and jazz all before graduating high school. It's been awhile, but Lauren is excited to be back on the stage and dancing with the Lehigh Valley Stars!
